Weststock Show, Rodeo Max Western Week

Three big events of Western Week will take place Friday and the Stockman's Club officials announced. Filling in will be the women's wild-cow milking contest, the stock show and the climactic rodeo at 8 p.m.

The livestock show will open at 12:30 p.m. Friday, and its opening, the girls' wild-cow milking contest will follow. Stockman's Club President Don Roper assured students that this contest is well worth watching, and has always proven to be a highlight event of Western Week. Applications are in the Stockman's Club box or the Animal Husbandry Dept.

Livestock to be displayed will include some of the top-producing dairy cattle in the state, along with top swine, sheep, beef cattle, and one of the best quarter-horse mares and colts in the area.

THE SHOW will be located behind the audio-visual center, east of the new library construction. Age and weight-guessing contests will be held on the stock, with choice beefsteaks going to winners. Roper announced.

Friday night's rodeo, beginning at 8 p.m., will climax the day's activities. Students will be admitted free on their activity cards, while adult tickets will cost $1.25 and children will be admitted for 75 cents.

QUEEN "CODY" Williams will reign over the event, while her attendants, Diane Kersey and Patricia Quinn will help present trophies and buckles to event winners.

Among the schools traveling to Provo to compete against BYU will be Montana State College, University of Montana, Utah State University and Idaho State College. The rodeo will be held at the Provo Fairgrounds, 1200 S. University Ave.

BU COWBOYS will be practicing all week at the dairy farm area. They invite the public to come and watch while they ride, rope and bulldog to get in shape for the competition Friday night and Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., the second performance of the BYU rodeo.

President McKay Addresses 10,000...

Forces Add Followers
by Wayne Spencer
University Staff Writer

Forces of good and evil are now bid- or followers, and it is now necessary for people of the world to make a choice. In them, President David O. McKay today told a full house at the devotion- assembly.

APPROXIMATELY 10,000 students and his heard President McKay say that the conference was halted by the forces of evil. He said there is a possibility of the conflagration the world has ever if men do not choose the right.

He compared the two forces at work in the world today. The teachings of good or of Christ are to love the Lord and "thy neighbor as thyself," he said. The main ob- of communism is to dethrone God, and way the free agency of man, he added.

He said the basis of communism, and of God is the main obstacle to its goal. Free agency cannot exist un- a communistic form of government, he said.

RANGE ROMANCE—Rehearsing for a scene in Friday's student assembly "Growth of the West" are Lonnie Lambson and Mary Ellen Bodine. They will play the leads in story of a rancher's son and a farmer's daughter.

Friday Assembly Tells 'Growth of the West'

Guns will blaze as the ranchers and farmers duel over land and ladies in the Western Week Assembly, which will be presented to students and faculty Friday morning in the fieldhouse.

THE PLOT SHOWS the "Growth of the West" from the hazards and catstrophes, through the rancher-farmer feuds, up to the modern cities of today, according to Tyrel Whipple, assembly chairman, who also wrote the script.

The major part of the show deals with the feud caused by the romance of a rancher's son, played by Lonnie Lambson, Ramah, N. Mex., with the farmer's daughter, played by Mary Ellen Bodine, Phoenix, Ariz. Margaret Pace, Chandler, Ariz., is the rancher's wife who settles the big gun battle, and Allen Lay, Needles, Calif., plays the preacher who gets the two young people together.

THE OLD and the new executive councils will be pitted against each other in a contest to see which can ride the bucking barrel the longest.

Capping the assembly is a colorful finale, the western clubs will demonstrate dances of the old west.

Professor to Get Award on Friday

The teacher who has been judged Brigham Young University's "Professor of the Year" will be announced at the Friday student assembly.

Nominations for the annual award were made by students, and a committee of student officers made the final selections, based primarily on reasons given in the nominations. The award is to be given to a member of the faculty who has served for fewer than 15 years.

Soviet Head Causes Stew In East City

West Berlin Waits, Takes Visit Calmly

BERLIN, May 18—(UPI)—The Eastern half of this divided city was in a stew over the arrival today of a terrible while the Western half did not seem to care.

West Berliners went about their daily business as usual amid the uneasy feeling that whatever the Soviet Premier had planned for them after the summit blowup in Paris, they could do nothing about it.

NEWSPAPERS handled the 36-hour visit almost casually, mixing it in their front pages with followups on the Caryl Chessman case and news of the American presidential campaign.

Residents of the Communist eastern sector of the city were in a more uneasy state as they always are when top Soviet brass arrives and satellite function-aries race about drumming up a "popular welcome."

AS ANNOUNCED by the East German Press last night, Khrushchev was to spend all of today in meetings with local Party Chief Walter Ulbricht and President Wilhelm Pieck. Tomorrow he was to speak before a mass rally and then, after more conferences, leave for Moscow early Saturday.

Khrushchev's arrival in this former German capital was considered certain to signal the start of a vicious new propaganda campaign aimed at undermining the foundations of the free Western sector.

WHETHER the Soviet Premier would take more direct action—a new ultimatum for U. S., British and French forces to vacate the city or the signing of a separate East German peace treaty—remained to be seen.

Western officials here considered one or both steps likely, although it was felt the Communists would at least go through the motions of attempting more negotiations on the issue.

OCT. 18, the date on which the East German regime celebrates its 11th anniversary, has been mentioned frequently as a possible time for the Soviets to complete the takeover and put the local Communists in charge of Berlin's fragile communication lifelines which stretch 110 miles to the west.

LAAAWZEE! Sakes, alive, Charlene Jensen is crouching in the corner for a good reason. Somebody told her a spookie story, like the one featured in the studentbody Carnival Friday, sponsored by the freshman class. The "Mardi Gras" from the deep deep south, will be held from 3 to 11:30 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse extension.

CLEANING UP—A 17-ton tank recently donated to Brigham Young University gets a thorough scrubbing by Steve Ritchie in preparation for a paint job. Given by Hercules Powder Company of Magna, the tank is 26 feet long, eight feet in diameter and has one-inch thick steel walls. The mammoth tank will be used as a blow-down air facility and high altitude test chamber.

Blue Cross Covers Accidents, Illnesses After Students Leave

Students should bear in mind that accidents and illness do not respect the calendar or whether or not the victim has coverage. So say representatives of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield program, with headquarters in Salt Lake City.

As the school year draws to a close, the organization urges students who have participated in the BC-BSS program to continue the coverage. A unique feature of BC-BSS is the opportunity of individual coverage for students leave school.

chosen as the outstanding woman of Brigham Young University in the 1960 Annals of Achievement, "Green Years," last night.
A clothing and textiles major, as Lewis was selected on the basis of her leadership and service contributions to the school during her college years.

THREE OTHER coeds received special awards. Judy Fuller, Bountiful, was chosen as the outstanding freshman woman. Outstanding sophomore woman was Joan Thomander from Maplewood, New Jersey.
Marcia Bradshaw, Salt Lake City, was the recipient of the senior women's award.

ANNALS OF Achievement is an annual event which is sponsored by the Associated Women Students. The purpose of the affair is to honor all women of BYU.

Linda Pace received a book from Alpha Lambda Delta as a senior alumnaus with the highest grade-point average.

For the second time in history,
White Key, honorary senior women's service unit, awarded honorary membership to an outstanding woman. Alice L.
Kinison was presented with a trophy, pin and membership of White Key in recognition of her service and the example she sets all women at BYU.

THE THEME OF "Green Years" was elaborated on by Mrs. Wilkinson in her address.
She compared the early years of college to the spring when a farmer plants his seeds. The first years of college could be compared to the harvest season.
"Your years at BYU are planting and growing years," she said.

MRS. WILKINSON urged women to plant the seeds of friendship and love, opportunity, beauty, self-regard and faith in their gardens. She concluded by reminding the women that the kinds of seeds which they plant now will bear fruit which they will harvest the future.

Invited residents, senior residents, dorm and unit presidents were also honored at the affair.
They were given corsages and seated in a special section.

New members of Y Calceares and Spurs ushered at the traditional event. New and old AWS officers and councils were introduced.

For enjoyment plus don't miss the Brigham Young University rodeo team in action Friday and Saturday at the Provo Fairgrounds Arena. The Cougars' two performances will cap off Western Week.

IF YOU HAVE never seen a rodeo you have really missed a sport that is packed with action, variety and some laughs.

Getting back to the Cougars, here are some cowboys that really put on a show. They have been competing this season with teams throughout the Rocky Mountains and have been making a good name for themselves.

Last week the Y 'bokes finished second at the Snow College Intercollegiate Rodeo at Ephraim, Montana. State College, one of the toughest teams in the mountain region, won the Snow College contest.

Incidentally, the Montana outfit will be one of the 10 teams BYU will host this weekend. Friday's events will begin at 8 p.m. and the Saturday activities will get underway at 2 p.m.

SOME of the outstanding members of the BYU team include Sherri Tolbert, Fred Hoopes, Bud Lish, Jay Wright and Jerry McDonald.

Tolbert, an all-around performer and the BYU team captain, tied for first place in the ribbon roping contest at Snow last weekend. Besides this he was runner-up for the all-around cowboy honors and he took second place in calf roping.

Some of the events to be staged this weekend are saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping, bull dogging and ribbon roping.

IN THE SADDLE bronc riding the cowboy has to ride the horse with one hand free at all times, while spurring the horse from the points of the shoulders.

Bareback riding is where a rigging is placed around the horse and then the cowboy has to stay on by holding with one hand.

The bull riding event consists of the cowboy trying to stay on a bull by holding on to a rope one-handed.

Calf roping is a timed event where the clock starts when the calf is let loose and the cowboy must rope the calf from the horse, then hop off and with a rope he has around his shoulder, he must then tie the calf's legs, at which time the clock is stopped.

THE BULL DOGGING event is probably the most sporting. The rider has to jump from his horse and grab the steer's horns and then throw it to the ground. Like the calf roping contest, the clock is started when the animal is let loose.

Ribbon roping requires a certain amount of track skill. The cowboy has to rope a steer, but then he has to jump from his horse and grab a ribbon from the steer's tail and run the ribbon back to the judge.

BESIDES THE events mentioned there will also be girl's barrel races and a goat tie for girls.

In the barrel races three barrels are placed in a triangular shape and the girls are clocked on how fast they can get their horse around the barrels.

The goat tie requires a girl to rope a goat which is tied to a stake and then jump over her horse and tie the goat's legs.

Of course, there will be the clowns who always draw a lot of laughs.

Degrading Showings Against Redskins Highlight Downtrodden Pigskin Past

by Don Roberts
Universe Sports Editor

With track and baseball championships still on the slate this spring, the furthest thing from the average sport fan's mind is the autumn perennial—football.

BYU FOOTBALL has a less than glorious past on the slate this spring, the furthest thing from the average sport fan's mind is the autumn perennial—football.

The Cougars undertook a variety schedule of the pigskin sport permanently in 1922 and except for the war years of 1943-45 they have met Utah every fall. That makes a total of 35 games and yet amazingly the records show two BYU wins, four ties and 29 losses.

OF THOSE 29 defeats, 14 have been shutouts. The Cats have held the Utes scoreless only once, when in 1928 the two squads battled to a scoreless tie. Points scored over the years offer another comparison of interest. The Redskins have hustled across the Cat goal line for 927 points compared to a scant 225 for the Y elevens. The Utes are averaging 26.5 a game while the Pumas haven't always made their conversion to average 6.4 points a contest.

The two BYU victories haven't been the lopsided variety by any stretch of the imagination. The Pumas broke into the win column against the Redskins after 20 years without a win in 1942. Under the tutelage of Coach Eddie Kimball, now Director of Athletics at the Y, the Cats won 12-6.

Then after another 16-year dry spell the Y gridgers won under Hal Kemp in 1958, 14-7 on a last second pass completion from quarterback Wayne Startin to R. K. Brown.

48-0—the biggest victory margin in the series. The stats posted that score in the 1922 opening game of the series. The Redskins have hit the 40 mark seven times in the rivalry.

THINGS MUST be getting better though. In the first seven years of what has become one of the oldest continuing rivalries in western inter-collegiate football, the Provo troops could manage only two touchdowns against the Salt Lake opponents.

The Redskins have only managed three shutouts in the last 19 years, which may be chalked up to an improving BYU football program, or charity from big brother depending on one's viewpoint.

How about caliber of opponents the Cougars have encountered over the years? Mt. St. Charles to Oregon State the Cats have played 'em all. But outside of the Corvallis crew, the Y forces have seen few big names on their schedules.

A REAL story of domination has been stamped out by the Pumas over—yes indeed, Western State. The Grand Junction school is the only squad to ever play BYU more than three games and not beat the Cats. The footballers have an impressive, in quantity if not quality, 18-0 win record over the States.

How far has BYU dipped to come up with a full slate of games? 1929 saw the Cougars play Greenview Union Pacific and win 37-0.

The largest Cat victory was a 54-0 shellacking of Utah State in 1927. Two typical 60-7 wins over Western State come within point of gaining top point honors for BYU.
